This year goes down as a "real typical M.P.O.N.R.". Typical in that it had a bit of everything including its share of frustrations — the sort of frustrations that cause so many to vow "never again". Still, after a couple of good nights sleep, most of us come to realise what a unique experience we have just had. What a very special yachting event the Marlay Point Overnighter has become.

At Lake Wellington we put a lot of effort into planning and management (starting in September) and are very conscious of the tradition that has developed with this weekend. We are positively delighted with the spirit of the six hundred skippers and their crews/supporters who create such a special atmosphere and give the organising committee such a smooth ride. For example, it was remarkable how such a large crowd left such little mess at Marlay Point, how co-operative people were in saving potentially awkward situations, like the post race phone call we had from the skipper "confessing" that he had mistakenly missed sailing around Tambo Bluff mark.

The results indicate once again that, while many consider the straits are a great leveller, it is still the top helmsmen that come through. How often do we see names like Ransom and Bennett up there? And yet in most cases the winners were enthusiastic amateurs and they certainly earned our congratulations. It was an especially good effort for E. Rudd from Sydney to win Division 1 in his Careel 22 at his first M.P.O.N.R. try. There were many very talented crews in Division 1. Also good to see the Metung yachts featuring so well, after all they have been strong supporters of the race for 13 years, having been invited to join L.W.Y.C. members in the very early days before it grew to be the largest yacht race in Australia (not too sure about the world record).

What of next year? More new classes, bigger and faster? More multi hull T.Y.'s? Whatever, most will be cruising people who go racing and will be back at Marlay Point. Given fair weather we will all enjoy another great happening and a complete weekend.
